Find our threatened species in the word search

National Threatened Species Day is held on September 7 each year and encourages the community to become involved with conserving our native plants and animals.

The first National Threatened Species Day was held in 1996, in commemoration of the loss of the last Tasmanian Tiger at Hobart Zoo in 1936.

Hidden in the adjacent word search are the names of 24 endangered or vulnerable Australian species. See if you can find them all and with the unused letters reveal a hidden message.

Birthday party

Hey Kids Branchers, I hope you are coming to our big birthday party on Sunday, September 25. As well as activities and displays for kids, there is a huge oval where you can kick a ball or throw a frisbee. Come and say hello to me on the day!

BESS

Thanks to two of our newest Kids Branch members, brothers Benjamin, 5, and James Rawlings, 7, who sent us some beautiful tree drawings, complete with flowers and animals. Thanks Benjamin and James!

Lorikeet drawings spectacular

With over 60 wonderful entries submitted for the Trees For Life colouring-in competition, it was not an easy task deciding on the winners.

However, I'm sure you will agree that the chosen pictures are spectacular! The vivid colours of the Rainbow Lorikeet were captured beautifully by all participants. Believe it or not, with such bright plumage lorikeets actually blend in with the colourful native blossoms and leaves that they feed amongst. Their diet consists of nectar, which is mopped up with their brush like tongues.

Thank you to all of the creative kids who entered the competition - you did an amazing job. The lucky winner of each age category is now the proud owner of some great prizes including a Port Power prize pack, Earth Greetings gift card pack, free entry pass to Cleland Wildlife Park and a double pass to Wallis Cinemas.

To see all the entries visit our webpage at www.treesforlife.org.au.

Cooper Chandler, 9, did this fantastic 3D lorikeet entry which certainly caught the eye of our judges and resulted in him winning the 9-12 age category. Well done Cooper!

Peter, aged 3, won the 0-3 age category.

Six-year-old Satine's entry won the 4-8 year age category.

Special mention goes to Lexie, 8, for drawing her own beautiful lorikeet - well done Lexie!

Did you know?

Did you know that over the past 30 years, Trees For Life has helped to grow 30 million seedlings? That is the equivalent of a forest around the size of 15,000 AAMI Stadiums!

These seedlings (many of them now mature plants) include not only trees, but also a range of bushes, shrubs, ground covers and grasses. They have provided wind breaks, erosion control, and shelter, food and habitat for numerous animals. Not only this, but they have also helped provide us with clean air to breathe. With the help of many volunteers Trees For Life has also collected over 6,000kg of native seed over the last 30 years. Would you believe that this weight is equivalent to that of an African elephant? That sure is a lot of seed considering how little one tiny seed weighs.
